

PROFILE OF Ganesh Raj

Senior Vice President and Managing Director Sub Continent DP World, India

Ganesh obtained a first class graduate degree in Mechanical Engineering from Bangalore University, India and then pursued further certification in Port Management while in Rotterdam. In 1988, he joined Jawaharlal Nehru Port Trust (off Mumbai) and in 1990 moved to the A.P. Moller Group as Terminal Manager at Nhava Sheva.

September 2001 saw him move to the new concession in Chennai owned by P&O Ports where he was appointed Chief Executive Officer. Under his leadership, the facility went live on 30th November of 2001. The Chennai operation underwent considerable progress in performance levels and throughput, growing in excess of 50% in a 2 year period.

In March 2004, Ganesh joined DP World. His vast experience in the liner and port sectors provides him with a unique capability to identifying potential projects and managing them through to successful completion